

I Have Seen the Soul

The soul appears as a small sphere.
I know its color as a fluorescent whitish blue.
Some say this is the color of the light
You see when you transition out of this body
And into the cosmic womb.
This means that this light is that of the soul's
Which continuously travels
As you become reborn.
Yet, I see it exists with me even now
As I am here and alive.
But at times, it goes into other people's bodies.
And I have to keep calling it back to my own.
It can be resistant at times.
It sort of pokes around me, swimmingly.
Until I play music in my ears, like,
"Sweetie, please, come into me."
Then it swoops on in,
And that tiny spherical light fills me entirely.
I perceive orgasmic, cosmic radiance globally.
The trance of the music makes
My body sway around the axis of my root.
Naturally, I ask it the usual prayers:
Guidance, decisions, unification of polarities, etc.
As if I don't realize it is the soul
Providing me with these blessings.