

Light And Death

Life is like the daytime,
Who knows the existence of nighttime

But cannot experience it
While the sun is shining.

One can only use memories
To imagine nighttime
While it is daytime.

In truth,

Reality is the presence
Of this moment.

So as we live
There is no such thing is death.

We can only imagine
Death as an experience

But it is not one we are having
Because we are having

The experience of life.